KARIM RASHID

Born in Egypt in 1960, raised in Canada and now an American citizen, Karim Rashid was hailed by Time Magazine as the most famous industrial designer in all of the Americas. Having won over 300 awards for his prolific work on everything from retail packaging to transit hubs to kitchen accoutrements, in 2012 he was inducted into the Interior Design Hall of Fame.

The author of several books illustrating his perspective on democratic design, Rashid's style is at once sensual, silly, serious and unmistakable.

SCULPTURAL

Designed in Karim Rashid's universe of imagination, Cadmo's modern shape in black, red, or white mimics the sleek and sultry hourglass silhouette of renowned actress Sophia Lauren.

DUALITY

Equipped with two different light sources, one source illuminates from the very top while the other source lights the curved body of the lamp. It also includes a dual switching cord that allows for independent operation of the two LED or halogen light sources.

SAVOIR-FAIRE

Cadmo is crafted with special care and great attention to detail. The floor standing fixture is laser cut from one sheet of metal, then pressed into its sculptural 3D shape, and manually polished before assembly.
